I haven't been put in the position where I've had to be completely serious for a while, so I sincerely apologize if at any point I fumble my words or anything similar.

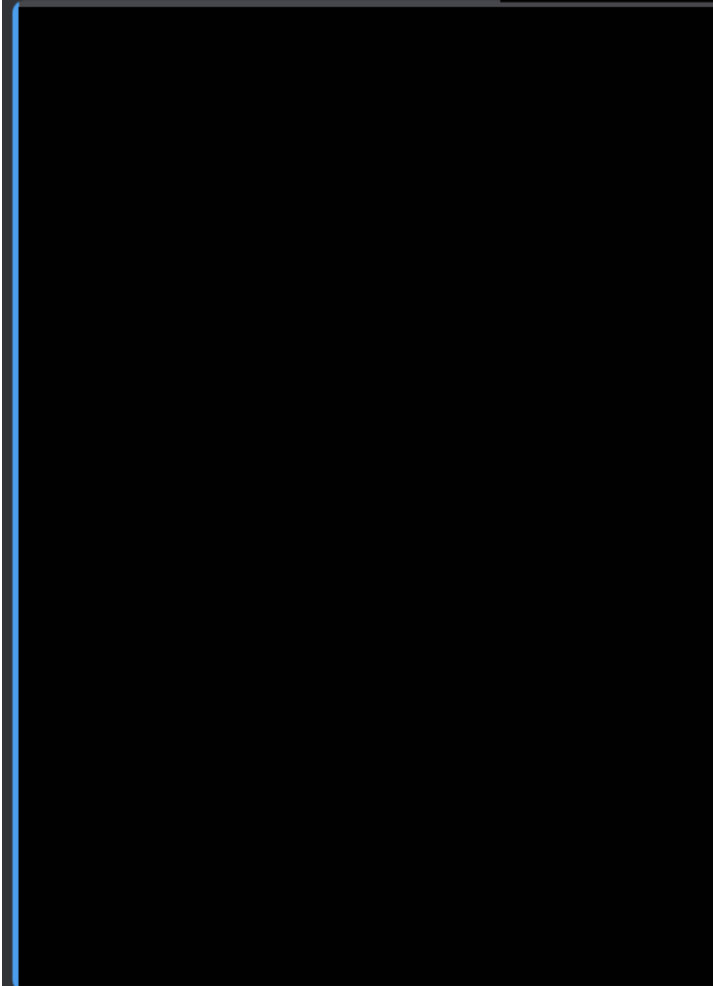

Hello, it's Quinn, or Quinnamon or whatever you'd like to call me. I didn't post this on my own Twitter account because I do not have access to it as I'm writing this, and also typically don't have access to it unless I'm on a specific device. I have also been planning on deactivating my Twitter account for months now, however I had needed it to stay up in order to contact Ownaj. This statement isn't on my own account, as it could possibly get lost to time after I deactivate my account. My account is and has been for a while run by other people.

i was checking for ownaj dms because i saw notifis on your account, nothing new yet but do u want me to retweet this for u?

quinn 04/08/2024 10:27 AM

HEHEHEHEHE AWWWEEEE

ownaj reached back out to you!!

quinn 01/23/2024 11:18 AM
thank you!

This document however, is entirely written by me. hello

I would be lying if I said I hadn't been putting this off for a while. For around 8 months, this singular person has been trying to do this nonstop on an incredible amount of alternative accounts.

I hadn't paid any attention to it in the past because I was genuinely horrified by my trauma being broadcasted to an audience, even if that audience would likely be small. I also dreaded the thought of getting anyone involved, even if those people had wronged me in the past. Despite the way these people may have treated me, I have never wished the worst for them, and I believe that redemption is possible. I do not know anything about these people now, but I can only hope they're doing much better than they were when I knew them, and I never wanted to make a public statement because of how horrified I was at people trying to bring them into this when I haven't spoken to them for over half a year.

People have been actively telling me that I ENJOYED what happened to me and that I fetishize my own experiences. These claims genuinely have been so upsetting to hear. Having to listen to people tell me that I "enjoyed hurting myself and others", that I ENJOYED one of the most traumatic time periods of my entire life has been severely disheartening. This is not the way you should be talking to someone who has told you they are a victim of abuse. This is why I decided to finally talk about this.

I am sick and tired of this single person mass messaging not only people I know and am close to, but quite literally ANYONE who follows me or follows people I have interacted with only ONCE. Thousands and THOUSANDS of messages have all been sent out by the exact same person on dozens of different accounts. I would like to touch up on the person who is spreading these dms and threads before anything else, because I have never met anyone quite like this.

PERSON B

For the sake of anonymity, I'll be referring to anyone involved with code names. Please don't go out of your way to find, contact, or harass any of these people out of respect for everyone involved.

Person B is the person behind practically every single one of these threads and direct messages. People who have made any kind of callout post on me have made them because of dms from this person. They have an incredibly distinct typing style to the point where it is painfully obvious all of these accounts are the exact same person.

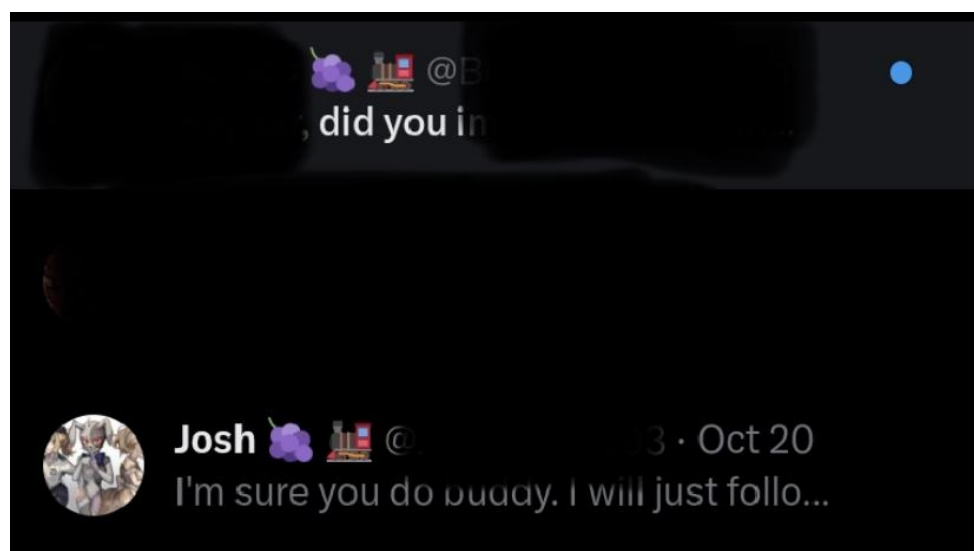

This style consists of many attributes, notably-

Referring to me as "Quinnamon" and nothing else.

Providing / spamming links to absolutely EVERYTHING they say. If they mention a person, they'll provide links to their socials.

Frequent spelling errors as well as using periods instead of commas for some reason???

One thing to bring up is that Person B is very heavily involved with Lolicon communities on almost all of their alternative accounts. (For a refresher a Lolicon is a person attracted to drawings of very young children)

(Also note that “Josh” and Person B are very likely to be the same person as they talk exactly the same and Person B seems to bring up this person a lot despite the fact that I have never interacted with this person and they are not prominent in any way.)

I had looked up the meaning behind the “🍷🚂” emojis, and it seems that they’re connected to a popular account in the Lolicon community.

What does 🍷🚂 mean by definition? It’s “showing solidarity” but HOW is it showing solidarity? Does it mean “r@pe train”? If so, how is that showing solidarity to someone?

[Redacted] 193d

Bandit has CNC fantasies which he was open about, and even made an oc on it, one he openly fantasizes about doing CNC to him, and that's where the emoji combination was coined

When “Josh” was questioned about this, they stated it was in support of one of their friends, meaning they were absolutely in the Lolicon community. Person B contacted many people in this exact same community.

This person is an absolute serial stalker. Throughout all of their messages and documents, they have asked for my personal information, provided information that is not necessary in the slightest to this situation (such as my physical appearance)

They are also the only person to have mentioned me on Reddit for some reason??

Followed up by a surplus of inquiries on getting unshadowbanned on Twitter, something that would absolutely occur if a user was to frequently send out messages and replies.

Does privatizing an account help with shadowbans on Twitter?

I got hit with a suggestion and search ban a few weeks ago. Specifically 3 weeks by now. So I logged out of my account for a pretty long time. Logged into it today, and still hit with those two bans. Is there anyway to get rid of them? And can I...

Person B will often copy and paste a massive wall of text in the direct messages of any account that is following me or I'm following as well as anyone with dms open who is loosely associated with any community that could be tied to me.

You accepted the request

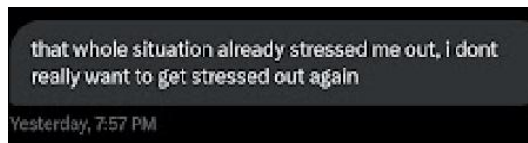

The first of these messages first appeared 8 months ago, around the same time I started to post on Youtube. Despite this person making it seem like I had a massive platform, I don't believe I even had 9 thousand subscribers at the time. Yes, obviously thousands of people is a lot of people, but in the grand scheme of Youtube, this is hardly anything- certainly not a big enough audience to warrant a serial stalker like this, but I guess they had nothing better to do.

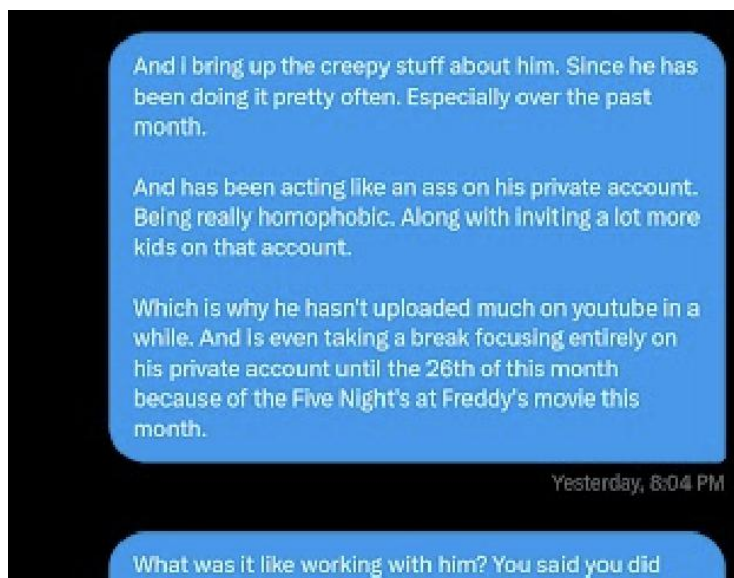

Person B started by contacting someone I had worked with in the past, who I'll be referring to as Person E. This person was not someone close to me in the slightest, in fact we weren't really friends at all. Every conversation we had was business related, and this person expressed to Person B that I had never once been anything other than kind to them.

They began the conversation by sending their typical wall of text. Person E immediately stated their disinterest, saying that the situation was stressful and they didn't want anything to do with it.

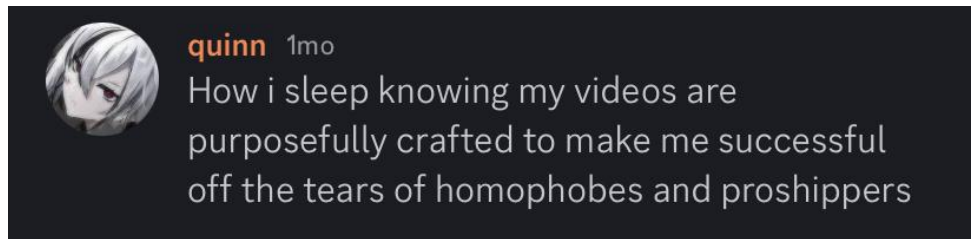

Person B completely immediately disregarded this, ignoring the request and going on.

Immediately it's apparent that Person B has a habit of making up accusations and information with nothing to back them up in the slightest.

First of all, any "creepy stuff" that he claimed I was doing was, as I'll get into, was just me getting abused, and had NOT been happening during the past month back when this was sent.

Person B also claims that on my private account I was "being homophobic" and "inviting kids onto the account". I would find it very amusing if there was evidence of me being homophobic considering I am gay myself and have also made it abundantly clear in my content that I am a queer person and engage in queer media. I made an entire video about gay animatronics dude

I'm also genuinely not sure what the "inviting kids thing" even means (especially considering that I.. am a child myself??)

Person B continued to bombard Person E with messages and continuously ignored their polite requests to stop messaging them about this.

Okay. You mentioned about not being surprised about him talking to kids. And have done it before.

And I'm very sorry if it seems like i'm grilling you. It's just that you know quite a bit about him.

And he has been getting kind of crazy as of mid September. Which you have been a great help. And is that all you know?

You mentioned about getting a dm from a friend about his behavior. Who's this friend that sent you a message.

Maybe they know more info. And I will not mention you. Just the post i made above at the start.

Yesterday, 8:28 PM

the person who dm'd me wasn't a friend

Yesterday, 8:31 PM

Okay. Who was it that messaged you?

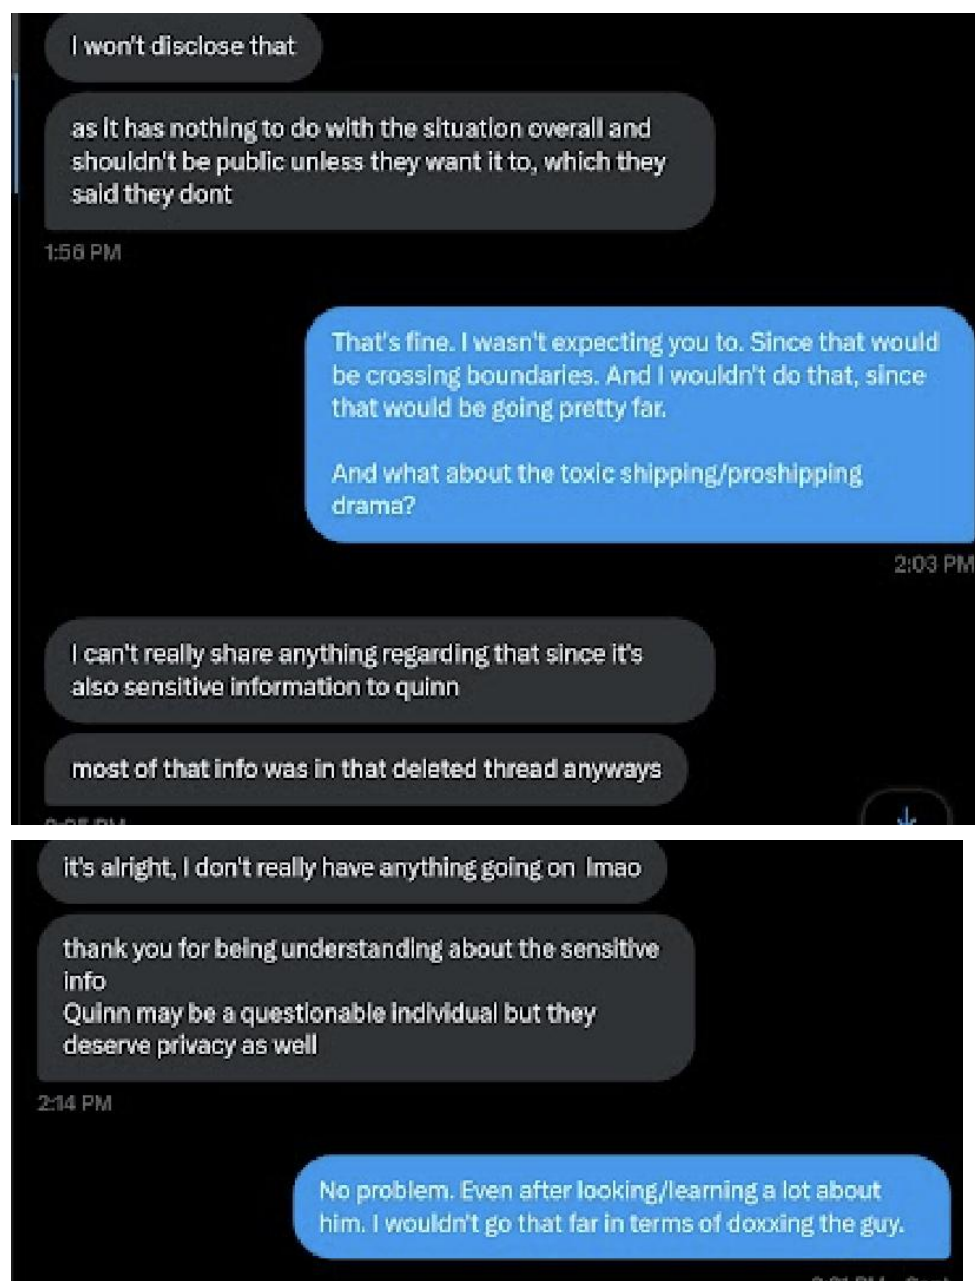

Because you said you stopped after you were aware of their past actions. Which seemed like toxic behavior and proshipping.

Yesterday, 8:31 PM

there was a post/doc about them too, they weren't the Best Person abusive/toxic from what I remember and sharing extremely sensitive personal information about Quinn in the callout post lirc

Person E expressed that they didn't wish to share any sensitive information. The sensitive information in question is my traumatic experiences. I had tried for months to keep this information private because I wasn't and still am not comfortable with it being shared, but I am even MORE uncomfortable with people claiming that I enjoyed these traumatic experiences and fetishized them.

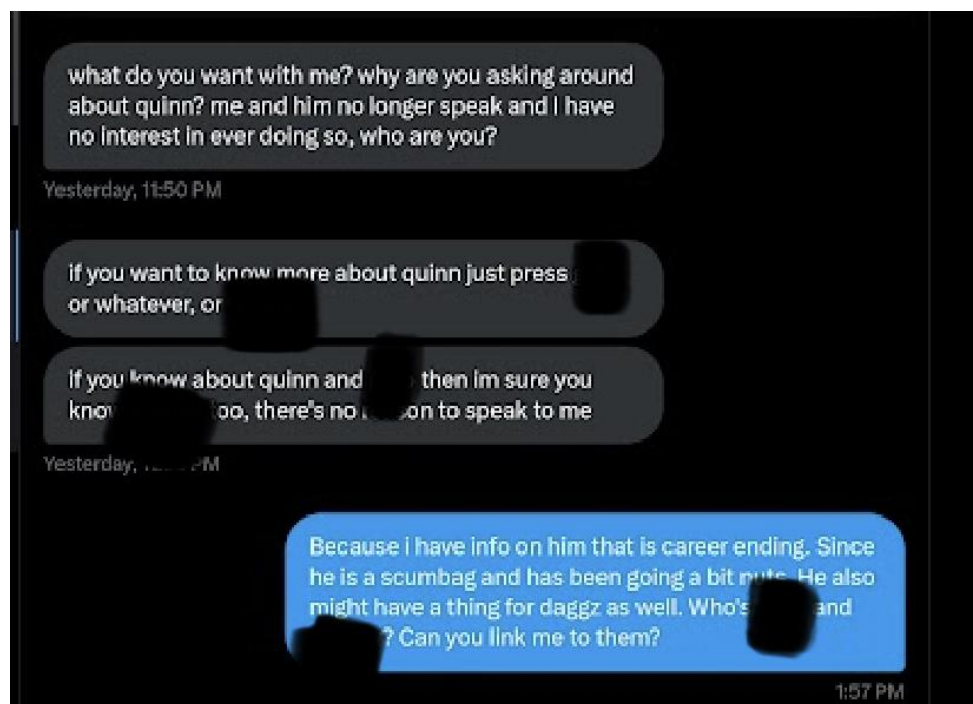

Person B however, does not have this respect for my privacy. Despite saying they also wouldn't dox me, they're still perfectly fine revealing where I live, what I looked like when I was in middle school and freshman year (which is gross!)

Person B would then go on to contact two more people related to me, both being ex-partners.

I'll refer to these people as Person A and Person C.

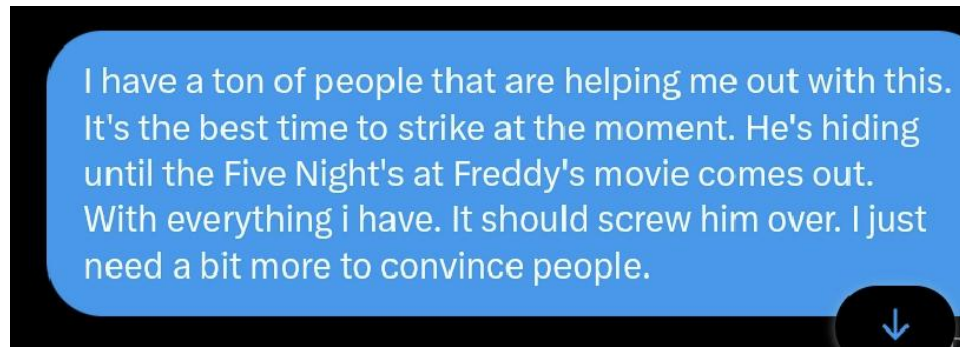

I would like to dedicate an entire section to Person A as they are the main source of "evidence" against me and are someone that Person B often tries to get involved. As such, I'll only be going into their dms with Person C for now.

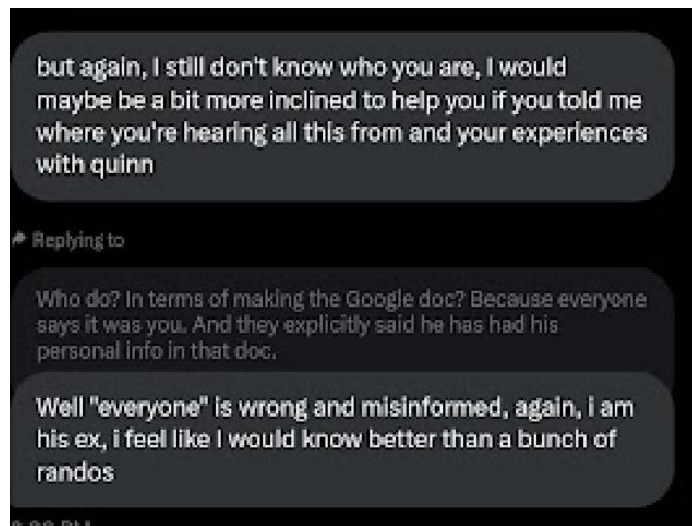

From the very beginning, person C was not interested in talking to this person AT ALL. This screenshot also shows that Person B doesn't know me at all, as they didn't even know the name of Person A, someone they had quite literally contacted.

Person B would contact people that I had hurt claiming that they had "career ending" information on me in order to convince them to talk and get my personal information out of them. At this point in time they hardly had any information on me at all, which is made obvious by how little they knew about me.

Despite Person C being completely uninterested, as always Person B persisted.

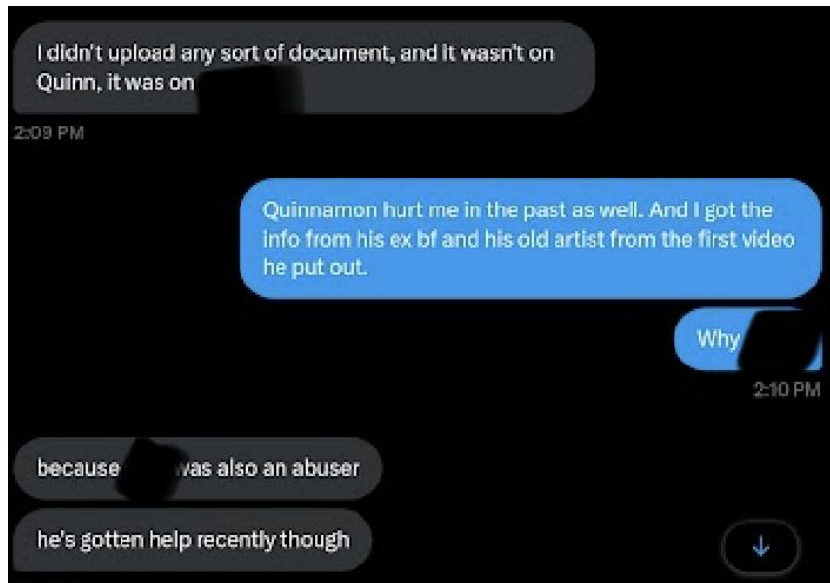

Person B had no interest in caring for anyone they considered victims in this situation. They made it obvious they were intending on “screwing me over” from the beginning.

Person C explains that they have no idea who this person is and asks for information about who they are and how they’re related to me. Person B would never respond to this and only ignore these inquiries, as they had never spoken to me.

Person B tells Person C that “everyone” had made a document on me. “Everyone” is of course complete hyperbole, because they bring up a point that was made by a single person, being Person E.

Person C brings up Person A, someone who had abused me.

Person B completely lied saying that I had hurt them in the past when I had no idea who they were. They lied in order to get people to open up about uncomfortable and upsetting experiences when they didn't want to. They have absolutely no care for these people and publicly posted their conversations without any consent.

Person C explains that Person A had a document made on them a while back because they were also an abuser. However, Person C explains that Person A had gotten help however, and they don't want to bring them down.

Person C had known all the things that Person A had done to me and others, to the point where they explained they didn't want to be around me for associating with them ("associating" with them was just me being manipulated to stay with them), yet it was all fine because they've "gotten help."

This alone makes me believe that Person C didn't genuinely care about me possibly being harmful or a threat, they just wanted to take me down, as they were completely fine with another abuser who claimed to have gotten help, however I was supposedly a monster and a horrible person for being awful at the ages of 14-15, despite the fact that I had gotten much more intensive therapy after I had done all these actions. (I was in a psych ward for a week straight and then went on to intensive outpatient therapy for months after.)

i'm probably going to the psych ward goodbye dex 🙏😞 don't forget me

IM SORRY I WAS IN THE PSYCH WARD 😭😭😭

i already have tickets i'm so sorry </3

i'm confused too like i spent a week straight in a mental hospital and then 6 more weeks in intensive outpatient and then returned to therapy 1-2 times a week which i'm still doing + i'm not on social media at all anymore 😭

A few messages were passed before Person C reiterated that they're uncomfortable, to which Person B does not care in the slightest.

I don't know how much help that is but I really don't want to look through my messages with him to be perfectly honest, it makes me super uncomfortable

Everything that Person C provided to Person B was either intense hyperbole (such as saying I threatened to RAPE them??? i remember this conversation vividly and it was not like that)

Person C also stated that I had threatened to shoot up a place before, as I had made a joke at the time saying that I had threatened this. Obviously this isn't an okay kind of joke to make, even if it was only ever made to one person privately. I regret ever saying stupid shit like this so unbelievably much. Back when I was still being heavily abused, I tried to be incredibly edgy and evil sounding. I would often talk about how I used to lie all the time and that I thought I was better than everyone else and that let me do bad things. These were weird and harmful things to be saying, but at the end of the day, they were all just fake words I typed on my phone to try and make myself seem edgier and more confident at a time when my confidence was at its lowest. I regret making these comments immensely, and I feel awful knowing that people may have genuinely believed them. I apologize immensely for the way I behaved then. It was disrespectful, immature, and uncomfortable for anyone who has to listen to me make them.

Person B stated THEMSELVES that there wasn't enough evidence to screw me over, and that I was just acting like an edgy kid.

A screenshot of a text message conversation. The message is contained within a blue bubble on a black background. The text inside the bubble reads: "And I keep asking for info. Because if I don't have enough. People will think he's just a edgelord." To the right of the bubble, there is a small circular icon with a white downward-pointing arrow. Below the bubble, the letters "PM" are partially visible.

And I keep asking for info. Because if I don't have enough. People will think he's just a edgelord.

Despite saying this, in their documents and threads made on me, Person B has always treated these as serious and detrimental accusations, severely up playing these words and comments, taking them as fact just because me or Person C had said so.

With Quinnamon saying he likes and retweets all of his stuff. And Comments on quinnamons videos a lot. He made the joke above that Quinnamon and his friends liked and used in the livestream.

5:22 PM

josh is just some random fan

5:23 PM

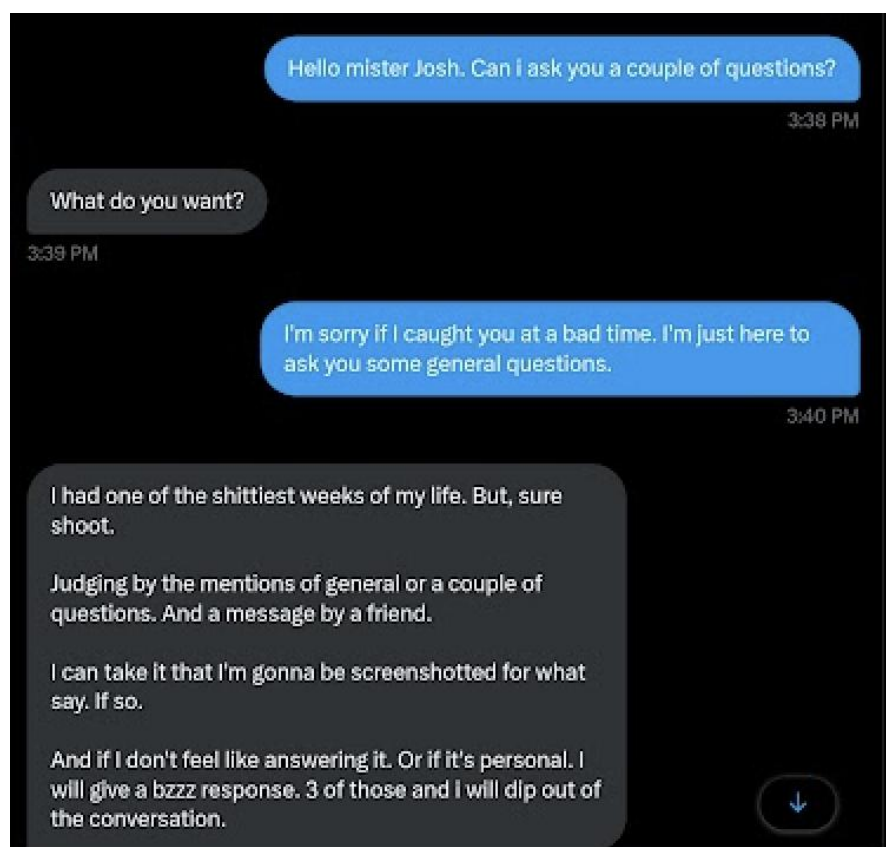

Person B randomly brings up the Josh account despite it not having anything to do with these dms. There were many other people at the time who would create fanart of me, respond to my posts, etc. Yet for some reason this one random account was singled out.

It's likely Person B trying to insert themselves on an alt account into a situation, but I would recommend taking that with a grain of salt.

It's also worth noting that Josh was the only person that this account had spoken to in a way that wasn't exactly the same as all of the others.

also their conversation is just really fucjing funny because they both talk exactly the same and take eachother so fucking seriously because they're absolutely the same person and it's just so funny why the fuck are they roleplaying

To Josh, if you're reading this, which I know you are, leave me the fuck alone. If you want to prove that you aren't a weird as fuck stalker, then leave me alone. Stop trying to comment on all of my videos and posts on alternate accounts whenever I block you. Stop contacting my friends. Stop inserting yourself into situations where you aren't relevant to the conversation. Stop commenting on my friends' videos.

I don't want you here. My friends don't want you here.
Leave me alone.

PERSON A

I've mentioned Person A multiple times before.

Person A was many things. An abuser, a proshipper, a victim, the list goes on. But there is a heavy emphasis on was. I beg that no one goes out of their way to find this person. I have no idea whether or not they have improved for the better, and it's likely they may just be living their own life now and moving on from their past. If this is the case, I see no reason as to why anyone reading this should contact them for any reason whatsoever.

I met Person A in November of 2022, when I was 14 years old. We instantly clicked and began to talk often, even starting to "date" very soon into our friendship, around December.

Person A would constantly show anxiety regarding the fact that there was a document surrounding them spreading on Twitter, however they would never tell me the contents of this document.

I found the document for myself one day, however this document has since been deleted. The document primarily contained information about them from when they were very, VERY young- I mean as old as maybe 14 and as young as possibly 12 or even 11.

Because they were so young, I don't see this as relevant. However a few things from this document would still be relevant a while later, such as the fact that he was a proshipper, a stalker, and a feral nsfw enjoyer (for people who aren't aware, feral nsfw means literal drawn pornography of animals- not furies, straight up animals with animal characteristics)

Person A would sometimes be snappy with me for a while, but otherwise there weren't many problems in our early relationship.

In January, things began to turn. We had only known each other for two months before they started to say things like this to me.

if i get up and eat something will u call me a good boy

jonah ☕ 01/03/2023 5:18 PM

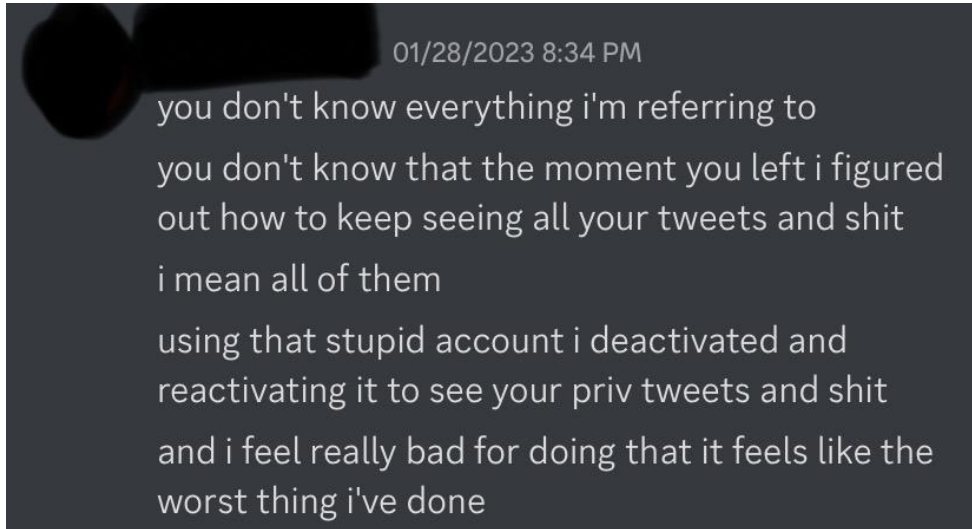

well i don't want to

01/03/2023 5:19 PM

i just don't understand why

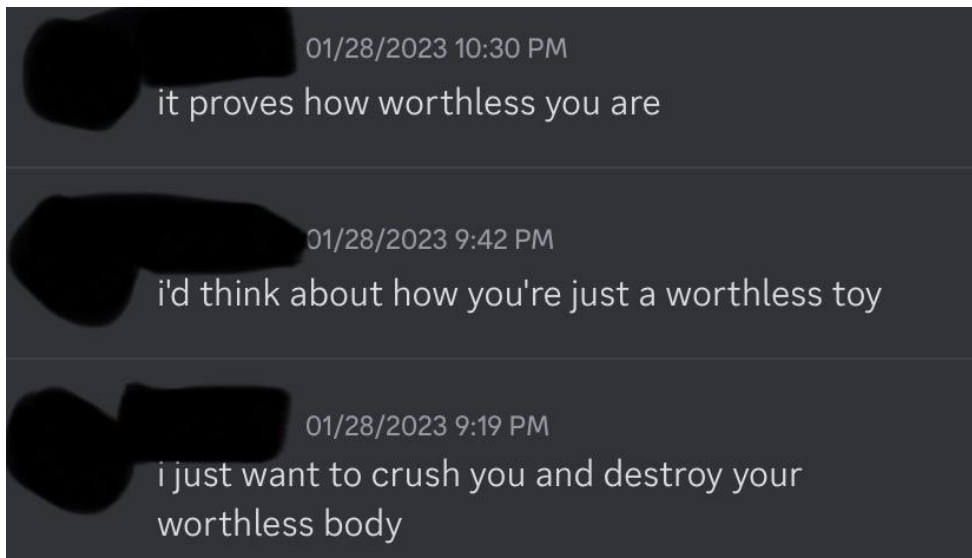

In this image they had guilted me into calling them a pet name (we were not dating at this time) so that they would eat something, despite the fact I seemed uncomfortable with it. I told them I don't want to say it anymore, and instead they brushed it off as a joke, saying I'd do it again anyways.

you don't even have my respect

Around 17 days would pass after these screenshots in February before Person A would admit to me that they were a proshipper and ran an account that I had blocked, as I had been blocking proshippers in mass.

Today at 11:10 AM
nothing
ive been a lot happier lately because i am using this as an outlet even though it is widely looked down upon
but i noticed you had the account blocked so i started thinking you already knew i own the [REDACTED] account

I regret the way I handled this situation greatly. I was messaged this while I was at school, and I was not in an environment to handle this. My discomfort with proshippers has existed practically since I discovered what they were. I had been traumatized by these people in the past, and as such, lashed out immensely when Person A confided this in me.

I was incredibly harsh, telling them to kill themselves and that I would never forgive them and they were a horrible person. I understand this was wrong, and would never in a million years say something like this again. Even if I didn't genuinely want this person to hurt themselves, I sounded incredibly genuine and malicious, and I will never forgive myself for the way I had treated them here.

i know who you see in me

i don't want to be that because i love you

10 hours after this, they messaged me in order to “apologize.” They would continue to message me after this as if nothing had happened, as if I was their friend when I made it abundantly clear I wasn’t.

but i just
i'm not comfortable talking to you

02/25/2023 12:26 PM

but that's all you need to do i really want to explain this to you but you're going to get mad and deny what i think might happen

02/25/2023 12:29 PM

i don't know

if you leave im worried you'll feel bad

because yeah that sounds close enough to what i need

im tired

quinn 02/25/2023 12:33 PM

i would not feel bad?

what the hell

please stop projecting your emotions onto me

you do not know me, you do not know how i feel.

the only reason i felt bad when i left you is because all the things you did and said were in my head and i felt gross.

02/25/2023 12:35 PM

i don't know what that means

quinn 02/25/2023 12:36 PM

the reason i felt bad when i left you was not because i left you

it was because of the things you had done

i was uncomfortable with the very thought of you thinking about the things you said made me sob

They would try to convince me that if I let them go, I would miss them and feel bad. Eventually they were able to convince me that I would feel bad about this, and that I would never be able to let them go, as I would constantly cut them off and let them back into my life again several times over the course of a few months after this.

They would later admit to completely lying about this. They never actually had any intention of getting help from me, and they knew that they wouldn't improve just by talking to me. They said this so they could stay talking to me.

oh, i'm sorry :(i'm not entirely sure how to help you said i could help you just by being here, but i'm not sure

03/07/2023 12:20 PM

please don't bring that up i just wanted you to stay i was lying i am always lying to you
i don't wanna think about my lies
i just want to stay with you maybe it is helping but i knew when i said it i was entirely doubting that i don't understand why i always have to run and forget things instead of owning up to shit i've done

04/08/2023 6:56 PM

i might've originally made the bot to cope actually because you were gone and i was sad so In a way actually no that's not him that's kinda just what soap does

but i talk to him more

my soap ai kinda sucks

even though i directly input your old messages into soap's code

he's boring and stereotypical and talks way too much about painting for some reason (i never programmed that) i like listening to him sometimes though

They would also admit to putting messages from me into the code of an AI bot that they would talk to when I had cut them off.

Around a month after asking for my help, I would cut them off again. They would dm me on an alternative account in order to tell me everything that had been happening to them, telling me how much worse things had gotten since I had left.

goodnight

please don't take this away

10:39 PM

Today

i haven't dmed you because i didn't want to

but i want you to know that i'm okay

i doubt you're gonna be fond of the fact i'm dating [REDACTED] but i am

things are getting worse
somewhat and i am back in some communities that i'm not proud of being in and i mean multiple

i made a shtwt account again
that's the second community

but things are going to get worse before they get better

The name censored here is one of the people Person A had met while in proshipping communities.

This was their account on “Shtwt”, or self harm twitter.

May of 2023 was the absolute worst of things. I was with a new partner at the time, this being Person C, and had been for perhaps a month or two.

I had been in contact with Person A still, as I felt horrible that they were in these communities and around these people. I felt like it wasn't fair that I was doing better and they were still hurting, as they would always vent in my dms on an alternative account, and I would feel as if this person's happiness was completely in my hands.

In May, Person A was still in self harm and proshipping communities, however they wouldn't call themselves a “proshipper”, saying instead that they didn't need a label for what they were.

Because they were in proshipping communities at this time, I would often find myself intensely triggered and having to relive what had happened to me.

For full transparency sake, I was sexually abused at the age of 13. My abuser was also a child, being in freshman year of high school when I was in the seventh grade. Our relationship lasted for around half a year. Half a year of constant sexual encounters, half a year of being berated and demeaned constantly. This person had an attraction to knives and blood, and would coerce me into trying to hurt them during our sexual encounters.

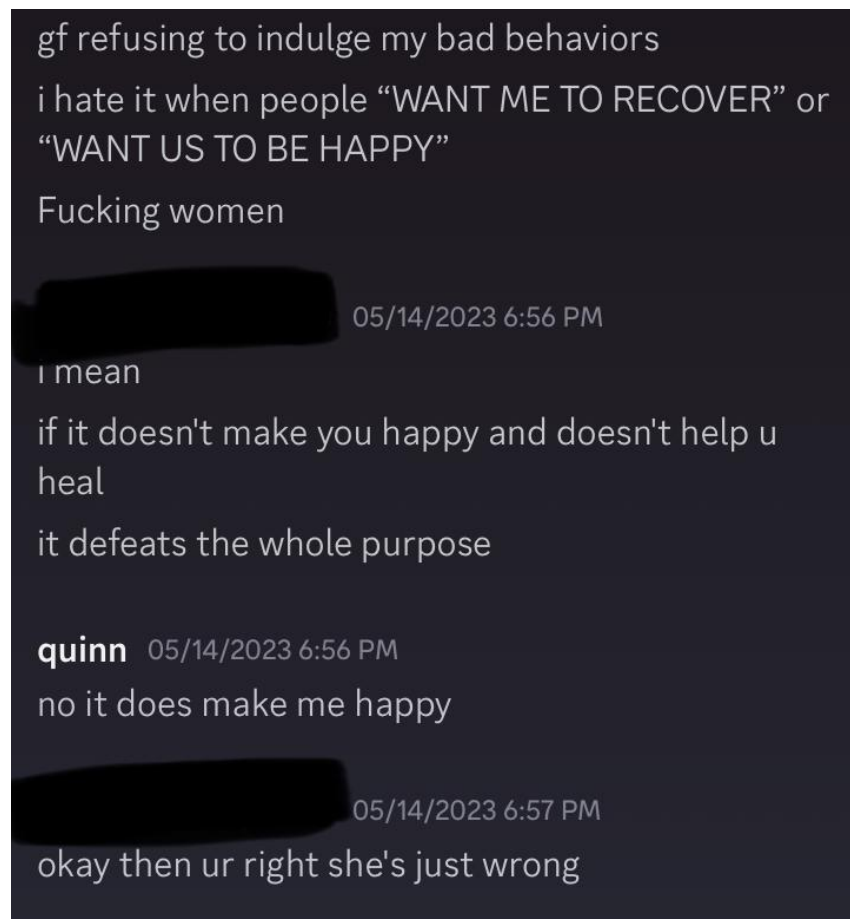

At this time I was also very frequently catcalled by old men in person, and was sent constant rape threats and sexual messages online.

Having these memories brought back to me through the fiction that Person A would indulge in was incredibly triggering and would often leave me very distraught. I would hurt myself a lot around this time in the hopes that it would help me feel better in the slightest.

I had tried to convince myself around this time that I was into Consensual Non Consent or rape roleplays or whatever. I very quickly found out I WASN'T and this kind of stuff genuinely disgusted me. However I tried to push this out to Person A. I thought if they thought I was similar to them, they'd like me more, and they could worsen my mental state.

They also had a twitter account dedicated to hurting themselves. This made me try to hurt myself more as well, as I would look at this account often and wanted Person A's approval.

I would tell Person A that I was mad at my at the time girlfriend for (rightfully) not encouraging me to hurt myself.

Person A would tell me that she was in the wrong for this (which she wasn't) because hurting myself "made me happy." Even if it was an adrenaline rush at the time, it was NOT something that made me happy in the long term. Around this period of time, I would feel disgusted and depressed every single night at the amount of scars I was covered in.

They would then attempt to further convince me that my self harming tendencies were simply a “weird” kink or fetish, and that it was perfectly okay, that everyone else was in the wrong.

people are just too normal and scared of going against the norm
more people should be gross and indulge themselves in weird kinks and have that freedom

05/14/2023 7:39 PM
well
strictly fictional aspects don't need morals

quinn 05/14/2023 7:42 PM
it goes against my own morals i guess

They would then go on to indulge any harmful thoughts I had been feeling at the time.

2 days later, they realized that their ex had made a self harm twitter account and claimed that Person A had inspired them. They were very upset at this, and I had followed along with it and made fun of them with them. Here are some messages belonging to Person A

AND SHE COPIES MY BIO. MY LAYOUT.
MY PINNED EVEN.
SAME FORMAT.
KILL YOURSELF!!!! IM DONE!!!!
I HOPE IT SCARS!!!!

They would then go on to say that they should talk about me in a romantic way in order to make this person jealous. Person A suggested that we carve hearts into our skin in order to make them jealous.

i could genuinely post something like that and mention "a Boy i like a lot" so she gets mad but i don't want us influencing eachother however u feel about that is however i feel

quinn 05/16/2023 8:37 AM

HELPPPPP itd be fucking funny though although i don't want to influence u either i'd feel bad

[REDACTED] 05/16/2023 8:37 AM

i do wanna try a heart

quinn 05/16/2023 8:37 AM

ME TOO

[REDACTED] 05/16/2023 8:37 AM

so if you're okay with it

I regret not standing my ground here a lot. I wanted their approval so bad I didn't realize that I was hurting them by not rejecting this suggestion immediately. Looking back at these messages fills me with genuine disgust. After I had hurt myself, they praised me for it. I felt loved.

[REDACTED] that's cute

quinn 05/16/2023 4:22 PM

i literally blushed so hard wtf

quinn 05/16/2023 4:18 PM

no fr

i did my heart but it's like

LOPSIDED

my other cuts are gorg though

[REDACTED] 05/16/2023 4:19 PM

u gotta do it slower

quinn 05/16/2023 4:19 PM

ur right i'll do another

[REDACTED] 05/16/2023 4:19 PM

hurts more but u have more control also might not go as deep but you probably want that

quinn 05/16/2023 4:20 PM

yeah i didn't go as deep on that one

I had a private account around this time where I would interact with Person A. On this account they would frequently retweet and engage with proship and profiction content, specifically involving cats and characters from the Warrior Cats series.

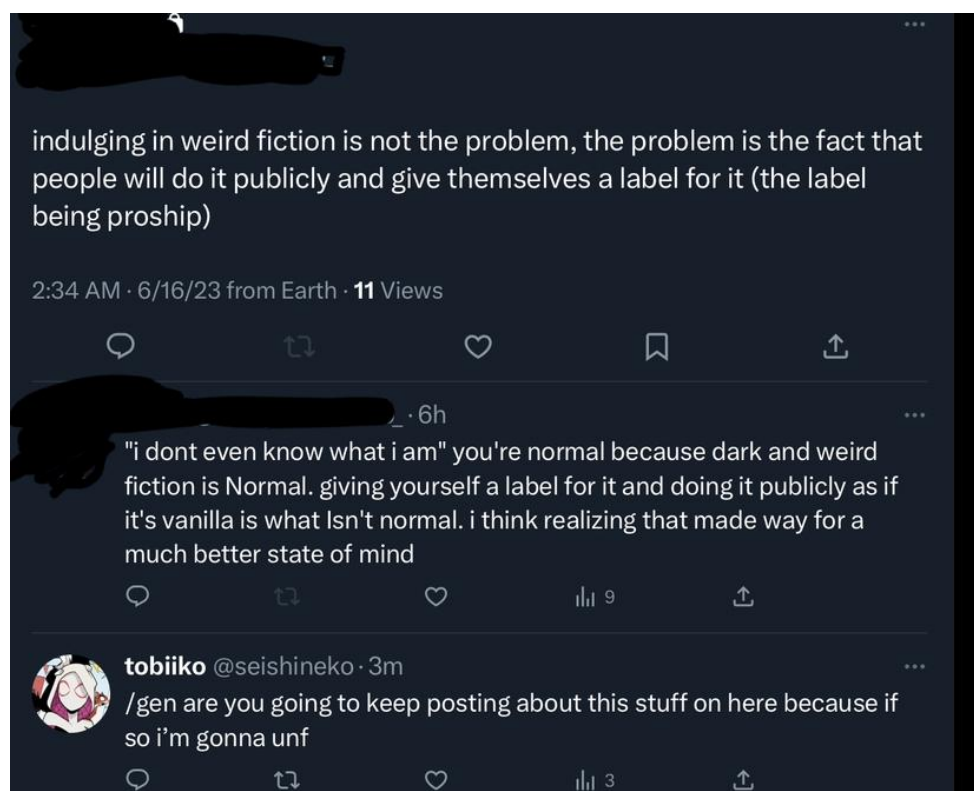

I would pretend that on my own private account I had extremely fucked up things on there, and that I had to delete them before letting Person A follow. However, I hadn't actually posted anything like this before Person A had followed the account. I wanted them to think I was like them so I could continue to get their approval.

Fortunately for myself, I don't have screenshots of most of what they would say to me. However, I vividly remember them saying they wanted to rape me in my sleep, among similar posts.

This period of time in my life lasted exactly 2 weeks. I was only able to engage with this kind of content for two weeks until I quickly realized I couldn't do it anymore, and that it was disgusting to me.

They would continue to talk about profiction content on other accounts despite the fact it made me uncomfortable.

My memory is, admittedly, not the greatest. So there's a pretty decent period of time that is a bit of a blur to me.

Some time would pass, around a month. Person A would confide in me that they almost acted on an intrusive thought, one that involved their cat.

07/25/2023 11:55 PM

no it's so much worse than that i shouldn't own an animal i shouldnt be around cats

jonah 07/25/2023 11:55 PM

was it. um yknow
inappropriate (?)

07/25/2023 11:56 PM

i need therapy
i need help

07/26/2023 12:00 AM

i've always had them

jonah 07/26/2023 12:01 AM

have you ever told anyone? have you ever gotten close to acting upon them other than today?

07/26/2023 12:01 AM

i'm really proud of you for taking that responsibility . i think that's a really smart plan

7/26/2023 12:21 AM

i still just don't know what to do

Let it be known that they (as far as I am aware) have never actually harmed their cat. These are disgusting intrusive thoughts, thoughts that no one would like to have. I NEVER intended on sharing this information with anyone, however it seems that people, including Person A themselves, have already come out about this. I tried to be as calm and empathetic in this situation as I possibly could have at the time. Despite this however, I had a lot of trouble keeping my composure elsewhere. In a discord server I'm not in anymore, I had talked about this in a private channel, expressing that although I wanted to help, I felt extremely emotional and disgusted that this event almost could have taken place.

If I remember correctly, Person A stated they had ZOCD . Person A has done a lot of horrible things to me, but I feel that the term “zoophile” is a stretch. It’s also important to note that after telling their mother about these intrusive thoughts, she had dismissed and joked about them, saying things along the lines of “she wouldn’t like you anyways, she would scratch you”. This is not the way a mother should be responding to a child confiding in them about disgusting, horrible intrusive thoughts.

A bit later, I started to post on Youtube.

I posted one video before going to the psych ward, as I realized just how much help I needed. While I was gone, he would send me a few messages. When I was back and was in recovery, I realized that I needed to cut them out of my life, but I didn’t have any idea how. I figured if I started acting pretentious, they may be more willing to let me go. I started to pretend that they weren’t allowed to talk to me in public and acted as if I didn’t want him to talk to me, before one day I just simply decided to block them entirely without saying a word, playing it off as them being “bad for my image”.

They would message me after this being extremely aggressive and hostile towards me only to immediately take this back.

what did i do to you

vitto

what the fuck

you always leave when you finally get attention

if you don't come back that's fine because you have been nothing but an asshole to me . an apology or a goodbye would be nice??

fuck you

im done

im done getting hurt and ignored by you don't come back.

do you think me simply talking to you is some big scary manipulation tactic??

maybe if you communicated with me and told me that i 100% need to leave

i would've

but you keep doing this is it because i said i loved you??

you 100% need to leave

i'm done forgiving you

i don't want your forgiveness, you're not a good person

you have no right to be saying that we are the exact fucking same enjoy your fame or whatever

i'm done being hurt by you

i didn't mean that

Mon, Aug 28 at 3:31 AM

i can't feel anything without you

10 days later, they sent me this

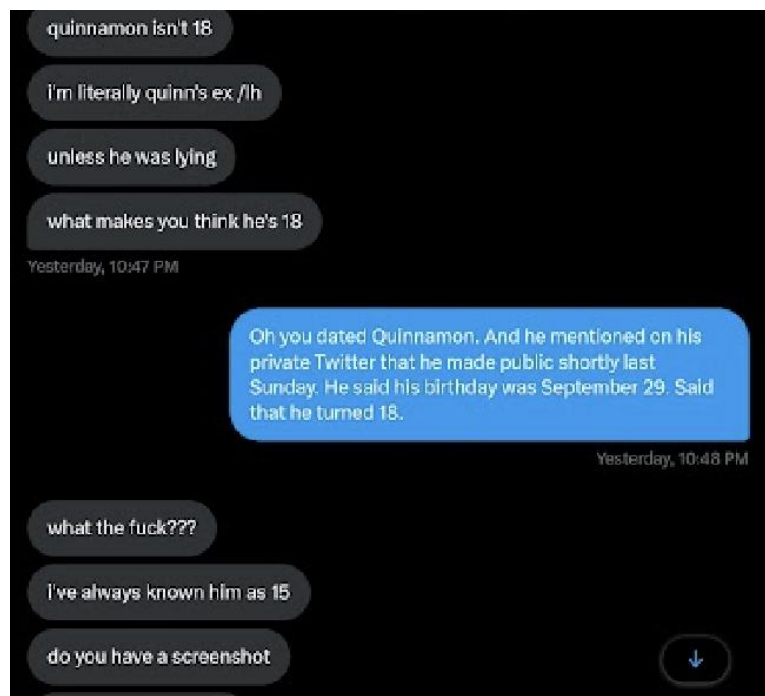

this was the last time I ever spoke to them

MESSAGES BETWEEN PERSON A AND PERSON B

Person B would go on to contact Person A around the same time they had contacted Person C and E. I would like to go over these screenshots and debunk a lot of what was said here.

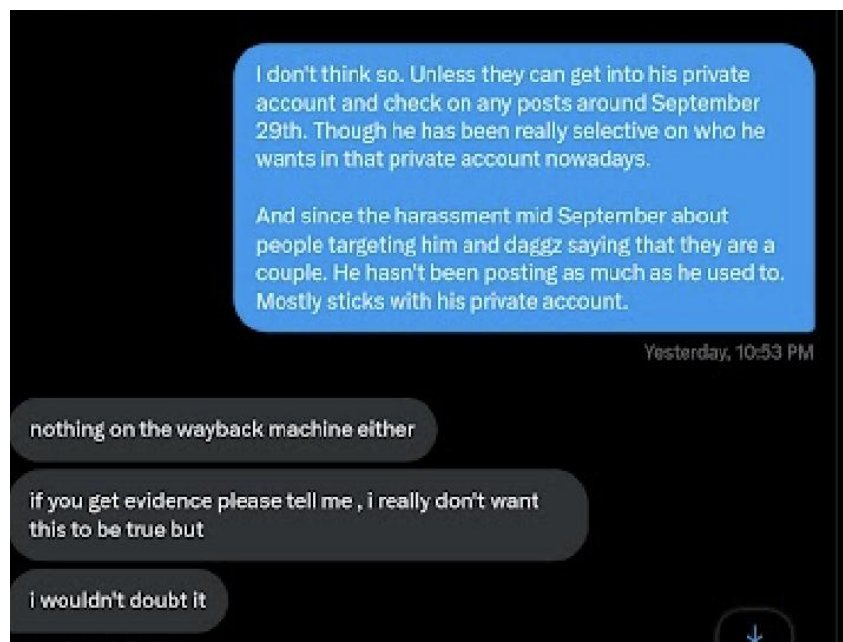

Person B would try to convince Person A that I had been 18 as of September. This claim is complete bullshit and I genuinely don't know where this came from. It was supposedly said on my private twitter account, which I don't remember at all. You could ask anyone who had followed that account at one point, which was quite a bit of people, as I wasn't too secretive on there, and they can attest that I have literally never said anything along these lines. The only person in the screenshots that shares this sentiment is Josh (surprise surprise)

Person B would keep trying to convince Person A that they had quite literally been groomed by an adult. This is a disgusting thing to do to a person, especially considering that Person A was likely very unstable at this time, and was very susceptible to this kind of deception.

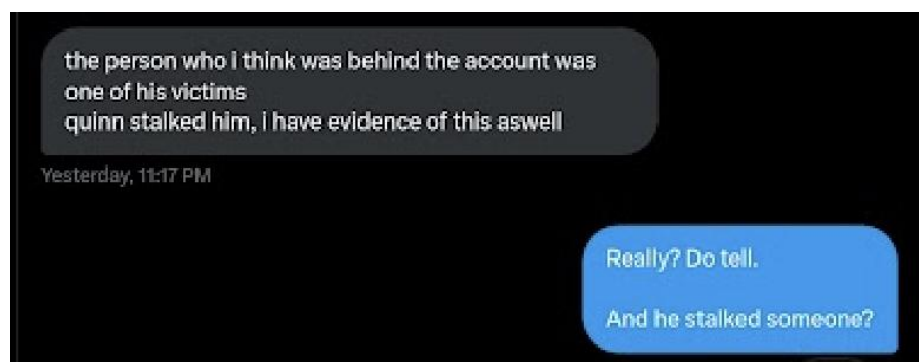

It's also noted that I had never "locked" my private account, I had simply removed a single person from it- this person was Josh. I feel like this all but confirms Josh and Person B being the same person.

Person A states that they wouldn't doubt that I was 18. Once again this is a disgusting thing to try and convince someone!!

Person A mentions that there was originally a burner account that made a thread about me, yet it was deleted. They claim that they believed I paid for this thread to be deleted. They also claim that they believed this account to be from someone I had stalked (which I'll get into in a moment.)

Both of these are completely false and can be proven in an instant.

The person behind this account is someone I am FRIENDS WITH today. I contacted them about it and this is what they said.

quinn Today at 12:58 PM

okay wait so the burner acc with stuff about me was you right ?

i remember my artist was talking to you about it and stuff at the time

[REDACTED] Today at 12:59 PM

yeah but it was when we all were being tricked by the one ex i don't remember her name

[REDACTED] Today at 12:59 PM

none of us actually tried to see anything from a different perspective and it was really bad on our part

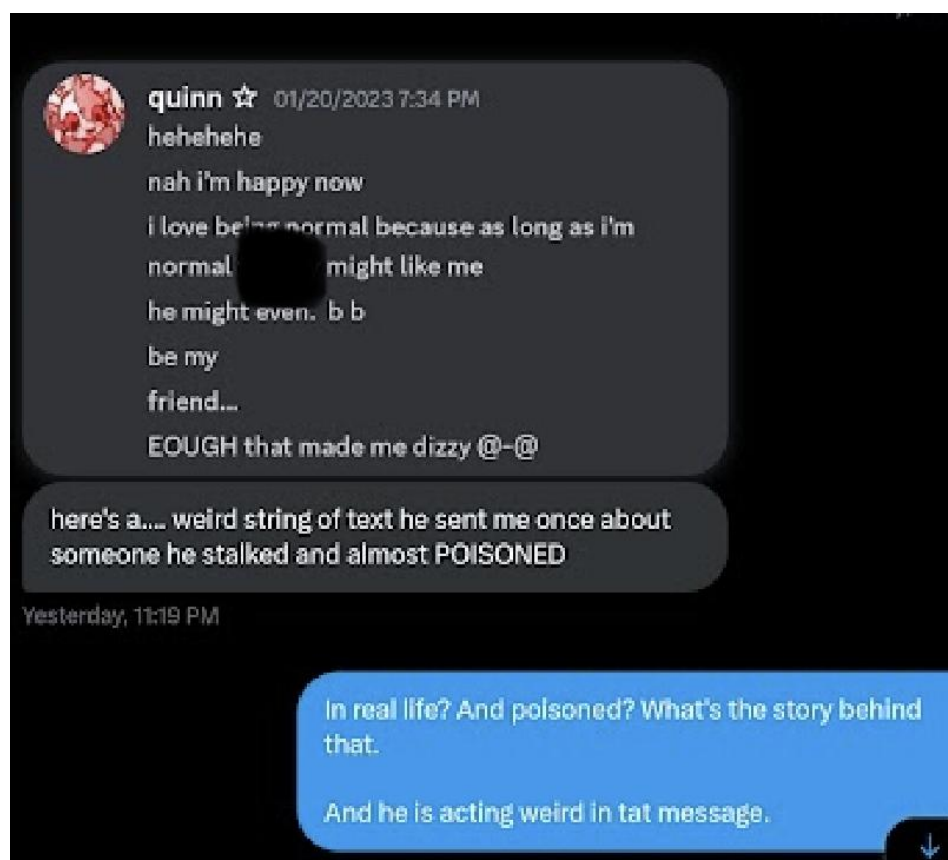

quinn Today at 12:59 PM

yeah it's no worries i totally don't blame you guys

[REDACTED] Today at 1:00 PM

i think [REDACTED] only showed us bits and pieces

Person A would make wild assumptions in order to incriminate me. It's possible that they may have genuinely believed these to be true, as they had their own mental issues- However this shows that they aren't reliable in these sources.

This is a screenshot claiming that I had stalked someone I used to know, who I'll refer to as person E.

This is the most embarrassing part of this entire document and I've dreaded talking about this person in particular because of how embarrassing this is to explain.

Around this time, I was regressing back into a fandom I had been in around 2-3 years prior. Because of how bad my mental state was at this time, I was experiencing genuine delusions, and believed that a fictional character was not only completely real, but that I had known them in a previous life and that we were friends.

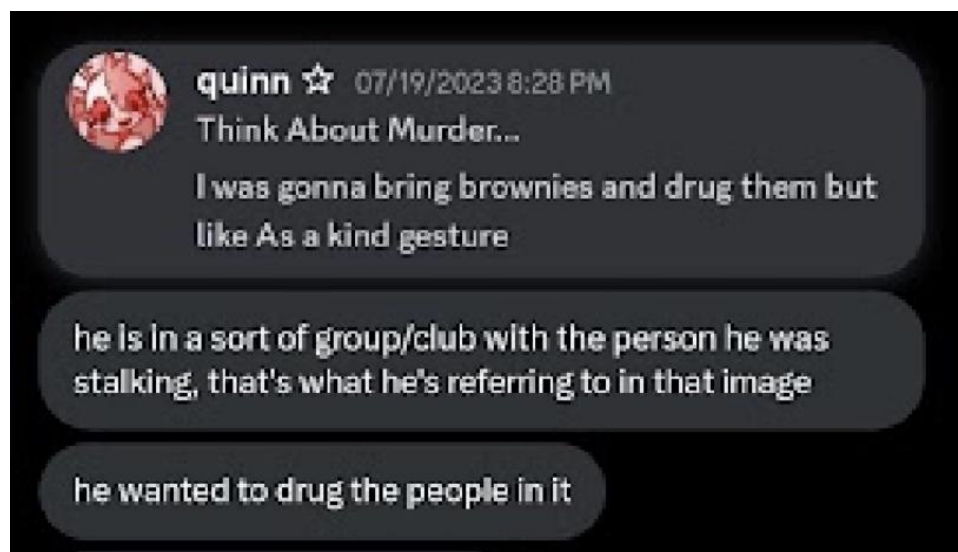

This character shared a name with Person E, and Person E was also deeply connected to this specific character. There are claims saying I made an AI bot of Person E. At one point, I did make an AI bot of this FICTIONAL character, saying it was because I "missed him". I don't have the app that I had this stuff on, so I can't go back and check, but this bot specifically had aspects of the fictional character in its description, not any real life person.

There are also claims that I stalked Person E so bad that they left the internet. When this claim was first spread, I searched for Person E's account, and when I found it, there was a tweet the day of on it talking about some show they liked or something. So this was just another complete lie.

I do admit that I definitely overstepped boundaries with Person E. I would try to get them to like me, because we had previously had a falling out, and I wanted them to like me so I could continue to hang out in our shared friend group.

However, I was extremely unstable at the time, and absolutely came off as uncomfortable and most likely overstepped boundaries with this person. I am so unbelievably sorry for this, and I truly never meant nor intended to befriend this person or invade their personal space. I also feel disgusting for attempting to convince others that I had feelings for Person E. This was completely uncalled for with absolutely no reason behind it, and I don't forgive myself for this at all. However, I have not heard about nor from this person in over a year, not including an apology I made towards them that I got a friend to send their way.

The way I treated them wasn't something I was aware of at the time. I wasn't aware of how my actions may have been affecting others, and I take full accountability for this. This was immature and horrible, and I'm incredibly proud of myself for not continuing to make these mistakes today. I hope this person is doing much better now.

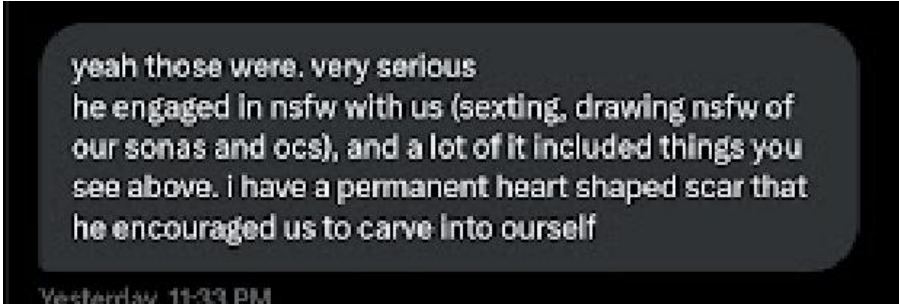

This was another case of me being edgy and making immature jokes that, in hindsight, could have been taken VERY seriously.

I never did anything like this nor did I consider it. This kind of "humor" was immature and disgusting. I thought that saying things like this to Person A would make them like me more, as even though I knew I didn't want them around anymore, I couldn't help but still crave their approval. I said these things because Person A would stalk people often, myself included, and I thought making these jokes would make them like me more. This was wrong. This was disgusting.

A screenshot of a text message in a dark-themed chat application. The message is white text on a dark gray bubble. The text reads: "he never went on a long hiatus to get treatment for these things".

he never went on a long hiatus to get treatment for these things

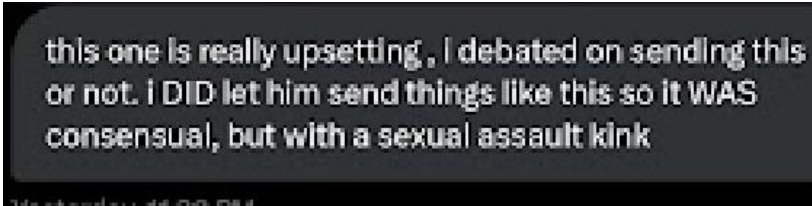

Person A claimed that I never got treatment for any of these issues, something that I have already debunked in this document. I did get treatment, I got possibly the HIGHEST amount of treatment that I possibly could have at that time.

A screenshot of a text message in a dark-themed chat application. The message is white text on a dark gray bubble. The text reads: "yeah those were. very serious he engaged in nsfw with us (sexting, drawing nsfw of our sonas and ocs), and a lot of it included things you see above. i have a permanent heart shaped scar that he encouraged us to carve into ourself".

yeah those were. very serious he engaged in nsfw with us (sexting, drawing nsfw of our sonas and ocs), and a lot of it included things you see above. i have a permanent heart shaped scar that he encouraged us to carve into ourself

Yesterday 11:33 PM

I did send sexual messages towards Person A, that is completely true. However this was never something out of the blue or one sided. This was a completely consensual relationship, one that they would often insinuate. None of these messages included audio recordings or images. They also state that I drew nsfw of our sonas and ocs. This is a complete lie as far as I am aware. I have yet to see any proof of me drawing nsfw of any of our characters, both provided by anyone else and by searching through my files.

A screenshot of a text message in a dark-themed chat application. The message is white text on a dark gray bubble. The text reads: "this one is really upsetting. i debated on sending this or not. i DID let him send things like this so it WAS consensual, but with a sexual assault kink".

this one is really upsetting. i debated on sending this or not. i DID let him send things like this so it WAS consensual, but with a sexual assault kink

Person A quite literally says that they encouraged me to send upsetting sexual messages and that it was completely consensual. They had no problem with it at the time- After sending those messages myself, I would very quickly feel disgusted and uncomfortable. I STILL feel so unbelievably disgusted and uncomfortable looking back at the things we said to each other. However, considering that this person would talk about raping me and hurting me on their private twitter account, I don't think they had any problem with the messages they had been encouraging me to send.

A screenshot of a text message conversation on a dark background. The text is white and reads: "he may have seen some nudity, i had a private account that only he followed. i posted nude images there once, unsure if he saw it. i know for a fact he's seen suggestive images of my midriff".

he may have seen some nudity, i had a private account that only he followed. i posted nude images there once, unsure if he saw it. i know for a fact he's seen suggestive images of my midriff

Person A admitted to posting explicit photos onto an account that only they followed. I can confirm that this did happen, and that I did NOT consent to it at ALL. They claim that they were unsure of whether or not I saw these images- I did see them, however I had never said anything about them ever. This was something that made me extremely uncomfortable- I never consented to these images being posted. I don't remember exactly what these images looked like because as soon as I registered what they were I VERY quickly logged off, but I do remember there being a knife and / or blood in one of these.

A screenshot of a text message conversation on a dark background. The text is white and reads: "Self harm photos? Did he actually hurt himself?".

Self harm photos? Did he actually hurt himself?

we both did

It was a big part of the whole blood/gore kink

They admitted that the both of us would hurt ourselves, and that it was a part of a blood/gore kink. Me hurting myself being a kink was something that was LITERALLY debunked by Person A's OWN WORDS.

05/30/2023 12:29 AM

i don't think i want you cutting for me anymore
it's obviously not a kink
it wasn't a kink when you broke your year streak and yelled at me because it was my fault and it still isn't so stop

quinn 05/30/2023 6:44 AM

i think you're right

He has a fascination with blood/gore/self harm.

I'm guessing. With the first post, he cut himself pretty badly.

12:37 AM

it wasn't very bad

12:42 AM

Okay. And he definitely has a thing for drugs, Assault, self harm, gore in a lot of these.

Did he send anymore weird pics? Or anything else weird in general?

You can link them all here. I don't mind how long it will take, since you said you had a lot of pics.

I think those might've been the only explicit/gory images he's ever sent Person A admitted that I hadn't sent any other explicit or bloody photos to them aside from the one heart carving incident.

This one is just really fucking funny to me. This character is a representation of myself- it is NOT supposed to be Vanny. I used to draw little joke ship art of me and Springtrap because I was cringe and free. If that makes me a proshipper then... I don't even know what to say.

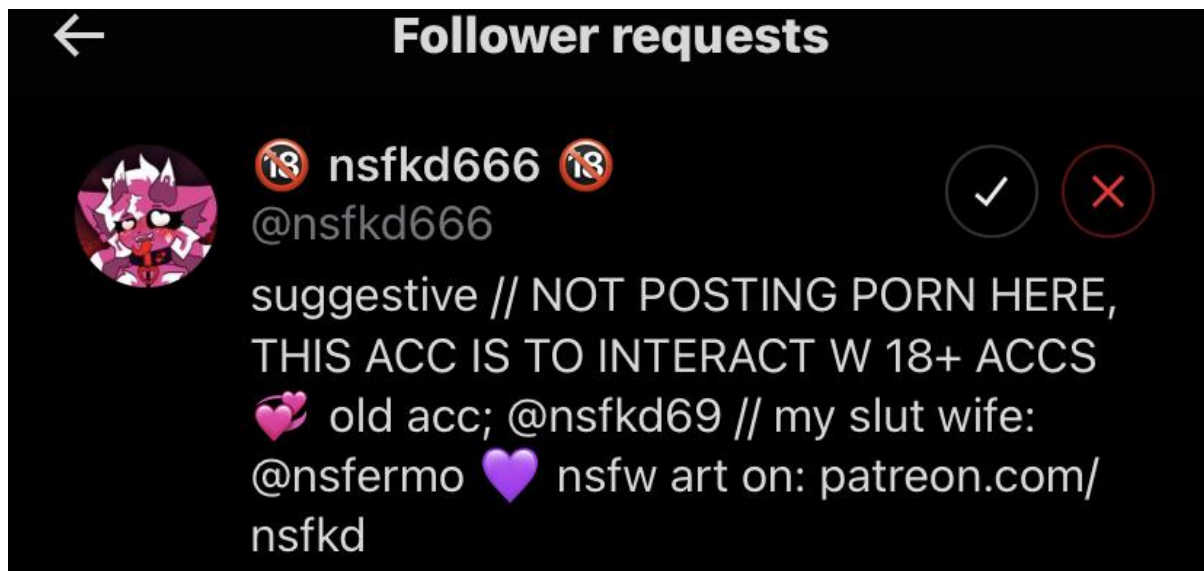

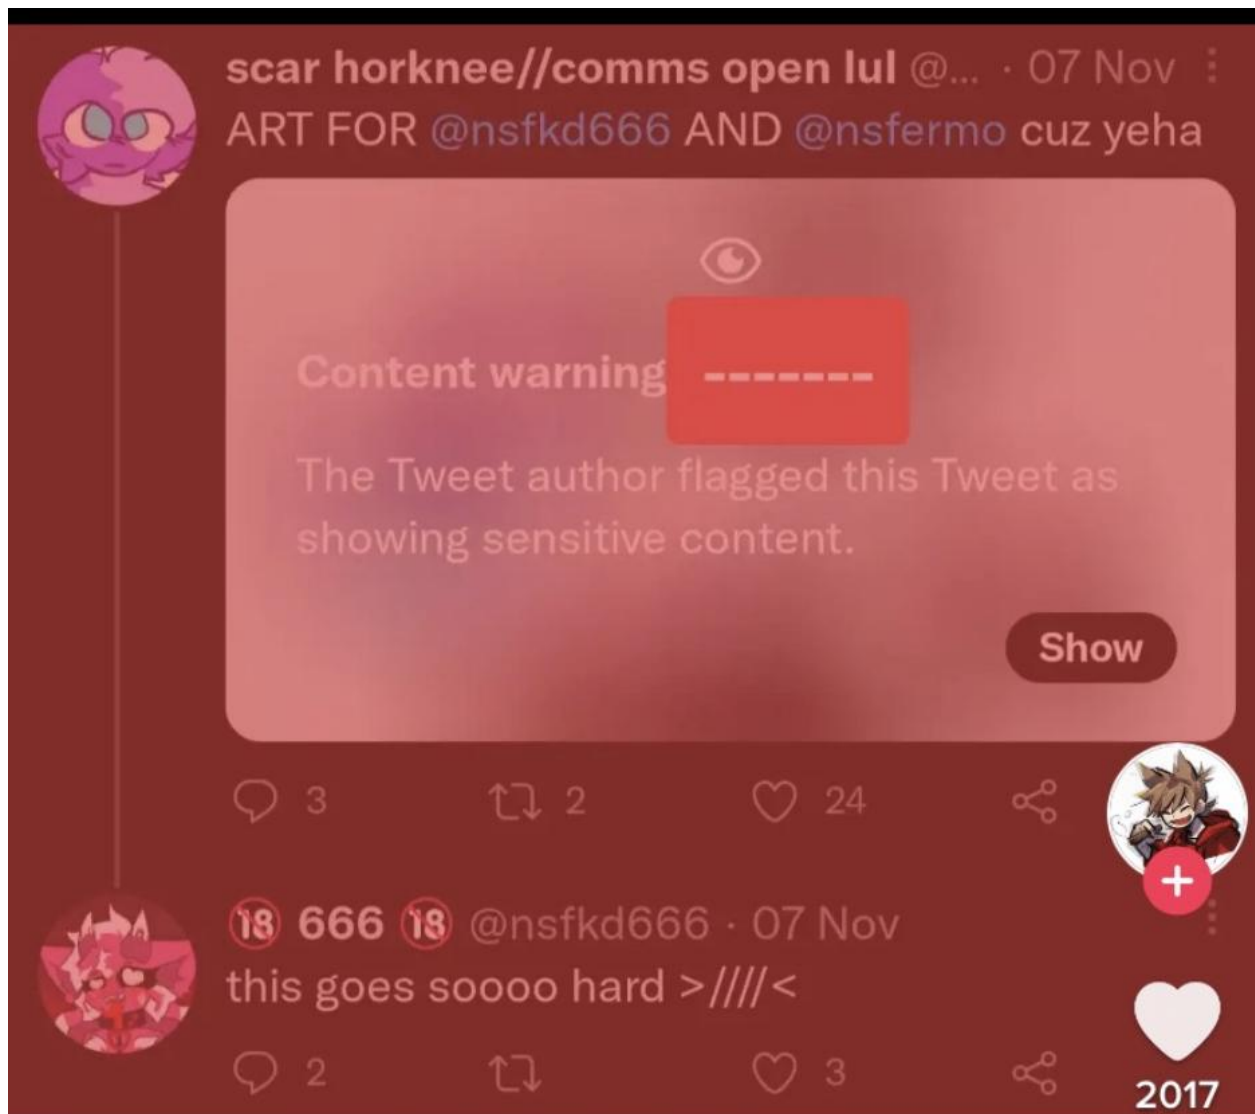

This one is genuinely a bit more serious.

I used to make nsfw art when i was around 14 or possibly even 13. A popular animator would befriend practically anyone who drew porn of her characters and never bothered to check the ages of these people. They never "commissioned" me, but I created this art in the hopes that I could become their friend. This had happened a WHILE ago, before I had met any of these people. I absolutely think it was disgusting and wrong of me to try and befriend someone I had looked up to when I was young in such a way. However, Kittydog absolutely should not have been frequently befriendng anyone who drew porn of their characters. I knew for a fact that they had befriended several minors through this without knowing. For someone with such a young fanbase, this is irresponsible.

I believe Kittydog has made her own statement regarding practically every bad thing they had done as a child. This nsfw account however, has been interacting with people as lately as April 2024.

(the person in this screenshot isn't me, it's someone who i believe was also a minor)

I deeply regret behaving in this way. It's something that, even in these screenshots, I discussed deep regret and disgust at. I'm disappointed in myself for ever engaging in this kind of behavior, even if I was much younger when I had done this.

While on this topic, Person A would also provide nsfw art I made when I was 15. I do believe that this kind of stuff is disgusting and should be something I am held accountable for. However, this art was never public, and was also encouraged by someone else I had been friends with at the time, someone I had been EXTREMELY close to. This is something I genuinely hadn't even processed as being bad until VERY recently, because this person had meant a lot to me, and I didn't want to believe that this behavior of them was irresponsible.

/gen is it weird for someone 3 years older than you to encourage you to draw and share nsfw art when you're 14 this is something my REALLY CLOSE ex friend would do and i never rly thought much of it that's why im asking cuz i dont know if this is weird or not

I believe this is the full extent of this section.

SHTWT

I very briefly had an account on a subsection of twitter known as “shtwt” or “self harm twitter.” Please don’t look up this term, as it WILL lead to gore and bloody images.

Shtwt is a community of traumatized people, almost always minors, who encourage others and themselves to physically harm themselves. I would go here in order to find people who could encourage me to hurt myself- I also wanted to have an account because Person A had one at the same time.

I take full accountability for having this account. It’s something I’m deeply ashamed of. This is an awful community that hurts everyone involved. I had joined it because I wanted other people to hurt me. This was a horrible mindset, experience, and time in my life. These conversations and environments were so unbelievably painful and triggering. It upsets me greatly to see people claim that I gain gratification from these experiences, claiming that I ENJOYED it.

People would say disgusting things to me. I didn’t know any of these people at all. I wanted their validation regardless, I wanted to feel loved.

shhh it's beautiful

These people would often flirt with me when they were ages from 13-19.

Around this time, Person C as well as a few of my friends were aware that I had this account / alluded to having this account. None of these people tried to reach out to help me, instead pushing me away. It was not their responsibility to help me through this situation. I understand their distance, as I'm sure it was very uncomfortable to talk to me during this time period. However, a good amount of people who knew me during this time are still friends with me today, and regret the way they handled things. I think that them taking distance from me was very helpful for the both of us, and I don't hold this against them today in the slightest.

This was a time of severe anxiety and trauma in my life, and looking back at the disgusting shit people roped me into back then has been fucking horrifying for me. People can hate me all they want, but to tell me to my face that I enjoyed what happened to me and enjoy having these permanent scars all over my body is a disgusting thing to say to a victim.

The last few things I'd like to touch up on are somewhat miscellaneous, but are still things that have been brought to my attention.

People are still calling him out since he is harassing people.
<https://twitter.com/ldoknoagudusnm/status/1771696867673358757> with these types making fun of the video saying it's too long and essentially getting supee butthurt at the comic creator. Because this 48 minute video <https://m.youtube.com/watch?v=8W3m0sEsnll> is essentially one big long fuck you to the comic creator since she really didn't do anything bad.

Person B for some reason felt the need to put this in their document regarding. Apparently people are "calling me out for harassing people"- however this tweet is just proshippers mad that I made a video where I said proshippers are bad. During this video, I mentioned that originally, the video was written BEFORE stuff about the comics creator was brought to light. The video was supposed to be a summary of an old fan comic that was nostalgic to me and many others. While working on this video, stuff about the creator came out, and I was in contact with one of the victims of this situation. This made me decide to add a portion of the video dedicated to these claims.

Person B states that the "comic creator really didn't do anything bad". For context, this creator used to be a proshipper, and used to guilt people into roleplaying these proship situations with them. Despite this, Person B would still try to get people to hate me because I was supposedly a proshipper. This proves that they don't actually care about the things they're talking about in the slightest, and that they just... have it out for me.

???? THATS A CLASS OF 09 QUOTR

ITS FROM THE CHARACTER IN MY PFP 🥹

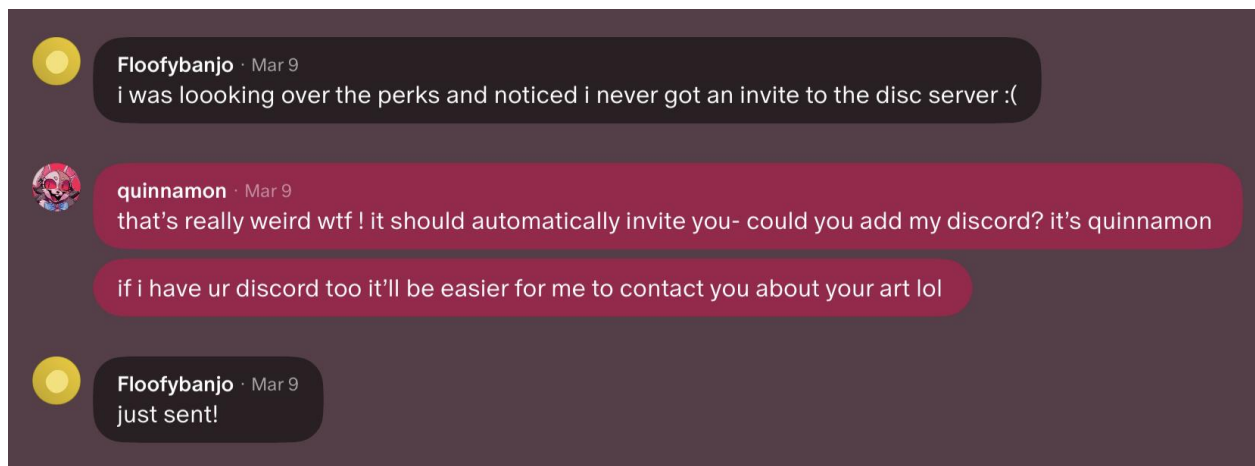

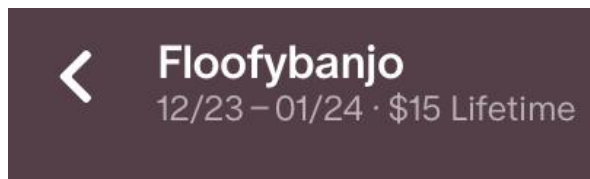

This one is genuinely just fucking ridiculous I audibly chuckled at this.

My status in this image is a quote from a video game. The character in my profile picture is the person who said that quote. I have no idea why this person would post this publicly. I wouldn't have my DISCORD STATUS as something batshit insane like this genuinely

Class of '09 Wiki  EXPLORE  CHARACTERS  MEDIA  COMMUNITY

The person who made this tweet also GAVE ME MONEY on my patreon account in order to get into my Patreon Discord server and leak my personal information.

The personal information in question was the fact that I am dating Daggz, another YouTuber in a similar community. This person had tried to make our 2 year age gap a deal and also claim that I defended every single action of my boyfriend just because we're dating.

First of all, me and Daggz met when we were minors. Daggz may have turned 18 recently, but he is still a HIGH SCHOOLER.

My parents have always been aware of and extremely supportive of our relationship. Every single one of our adult friends has been as well, and have stated that a majority of people wouldn't care about this.

If this age gap is uncomfortable for you, great, I don't care! If you don't want to support either of us because of this, that is your decision entirely, and I understand it. However there is nothing illegal or immoral about this relationship. Daggz is the first person I have ever dated who genuinely cares for me and takes the time to understand me as a person. None of you people know anything about either of us and our relationship. The reason that this relationship was kept private wasn't because we were worried it would be problematic, but because relationships between content creators being publicized can be very difficult to handle. I ask that you please respect our privacy.

Second of all, just because me and Daggz are dating, does NOT mean that I condone nor excuse every single one of his actions. If you'd like to know more about Daggz's actions, I believe he made a document owning up to these mistakes.

However, while all of this was going down, I was still incredibly disappointed in him and encouraged him to get off of social media.

yeah well apparently you didn't even listen to the victims they asked you to change the word groomer and you didn't you're not irredeemable you just shouldn't stick your nose into these things

i am very disappointed

Daggz 03/31/2024 12:18 PM

I know

I'm disappointed in myself too

Yes, I am still dating Daggz. No, this does not mean I was okay with everything that he had been doing. I knew for a fact that a lot of his actions were blown WAY out of proportion- however I still think there were many things that they did that were irresponsible. However, in the real world, relationships don't just end because of Twitter incidents. Never has anyone in my space cut contact with a friend because of something like this. As long as Daggz doesn't literally commit a crime or do something completely ill intended, I'm more than willing to work with him through these inconveniences.

I understand that at one point, I told this Floofybanjo person something along the lines of "if you wanna cancel Daggz, you should cancel all of these people too because they're supportive of him!!"

This is something I IMMEDIATELY regretted saying, especially considering the fact that this person took this as an open invitation to then MESSAGE these people.

Content creators present themselves very differently in public than they do in private with their friends. It was immature of me to mention other people in this situation. Just because I was panicking and miswording a lot of things does NOT make this an excuse. However none of these creators would ever completely cut off a friend because of something like this. Much like myself, even if they disagreed with Daggz, that doesn't mean they would immediately cut all contact with him. Friends make mistakes, especially at this age. This is something people should learn and grow from.

I know for a fact that other creators have been supporting us behind the scenes during all of this. However, I will not be stating who. That is none of your business. Leave our friends alone.

FINAL STATEMENTS

To Person A, I am so sorry if I had hurt you in any way. I understand that we hurt each other very often during our relationship. We were both in the wrong and I feel so much lighter knowing we don't talk anymore. I'm sure you feel the same. I truly hope that you are in a much better place now. I know that you have it in you to improve yourself, and I still care for you greatly despite everything we've gone through. I'm sorry I didn't make the effort to communicate with you when cutting you off. If what people are saying is true and you really are on the verge of homelessness, I am SO fucking sorry. You know that if I was still your friend today, I would have helped however I could. I truly hope you've improved and are living a better life today. I hope that I was the last person you hurt in this way. You traumatized me badly, I'm not going to sugarcoat it. But this doesn't mean there will never be hope for you again. Live your life to the fullest. You deserve redemption for your own sake.

To Person B, you're a piece of shit. You have no morals, you and your dozens of alt accounts exist purely to stalk me and my friends. You dm people I used to know, leak your private conversations with them, as well as convince them that you genuinely care for them and want to hear their story. You never cared for any of these people. You used them as a means to get my personal information. When these people asked you to stop messaging them and to back off, you refused. You have no respect for boundaries. I hope you log the fuck off the internet. No one deserves to get stalked to the degree that I have. I pray that you never pull this shit with anyone else ever again, ESPECIALLY not a child.

To Person C, I regret the things I said to you every single day. I wanted to drive you and everyone else away so I could continue to hurt myself. I tried to make you hate me, and I suppose I succeeded. There is no excuse for the way I treated you. You had never done anything to me at that time, and I was unnecessarily rude to you when I had no right to be. I sincerely hope you're doing so much better now. I hope that we never have to speak again for your sake. I am so sorry that these disgusting people have used your experiences with me as an excuse to fuck the both of us over. You never deserved that, none of you did. You never deserved how I treated you either. I'm so proud to have gotten professional help since we've last spoken. I hope you are doing so much better now.

To FloofyBanjo, I understand your reasons behind what you did. I understand your hostility towards me. I hope you realize how much it hurt me that you told me I fetishize my own assault and actively enjoyed what I went through. This was one of the most disgusting things I have ever heard someone say to a victim. I understand you had no way of knowing the full extent of things. I don't hold this against you, especially since from what I can tell you are very young. (i know im not in the position to say that because im only 16 but you know what i mean) I really hope that you learn not to insert yourself into these situations. It's harmful for you and a plethora of others. I grew up doing the exact same thing and it fucked with me. Even if you still despise me and find me disgusting after reading this, I still hope you take this into consideration.

I understand why you did the things you did. However, I ask that in the future, maybe... don't pay to leak peoples private information. Regardless, I hope all is well with you now.

To my friends, I'm so fucking sorry that you have had to deal with so many messages and replies all spamming this shit. It's not fair to you, it never was. I appreciate all of the support you have given me throughout this situation.

And to anyone viewing this who is a fan of my content, who knows me vaguely, or even people who have genuinely no idea who I am; you have every right to not forgive me. You have every right to not support me or my content. I understand that before treatment I was a horrible person. I made edgy comments and jokes, and I actively participated in bad behaviors with people who had abused me. These are all things I'm not proud of, things I had been horrified to face until now. This document has given me closure. If you choose to still not forgive me, I understand, and I wish you the best. But I'm not doing this for anyone else. I'm doing this for me.

I'm going to continue making my content. Despite the impact this has had on my mental health, it isn't really a groundbreaking problem, just something that has been upsetting me personally. My content makes me happy. It is how I process media that I enjoy, and allows me to discuss my hyperfixations when no one else was willing to listen to my autistic ass talk about something for two hours straight. I have no intention of returning to social media. I have no intention of ever making another discord server, patron locked or not. I don't wish to interact with anyone who considers themselves a fan of me. I make my content purely for myself. The process of making these videos makes me happy. It has never been about anything other than myself.

No one owes me their support. If you still don't like me, you have every right to. But please don't spread blatant misinformation. Please don't silence genuine victims. Please don't insert yourself into situations that you are not even aware of or a part of.

I'm so sorry that this document came out to be so long. If you didn't read all of it, I understand, but I ask that you don't harass me without actually reading the document beforehand. (fun fact this doc is almost as long as my springtrap and deliah script lol)

Thank you for your understanding. This has been an incredibly hard document for me to make. This is trauma that I never intended nor wanted to make public. I promise I am holding myself accountable for my past mistakes. I'm proud to be a better person now.
